

Dierama 'Merlin'

- BLOOM:
- Dark purple flowers
 - Arching flower stems

- SIZE:
- 1.0m H x 0.7m S
 - Open clump forming

- USE:
- Garden border

Name:	Angel's Fishing Rod
Full Name:	Dierama 'Merlin'
Flower:	Dark purple flowers on long pendulous stems in mid to late summer
Leaf:	Green, pointed, grass-like leaves
Mature Size:	1.0m H x 0.7m S/Open clump forming
Preferred Location:	Garden border
Likes:	Full sun and rich free draining soils
Dislikes:	Water logged soil and temperatures below -5°C
Grown in:	Ireland

Dierama 'Merlin' or more commonly known as Angel's fishing rod is a perennial with clusters of deep purple flowers along the arching flower stem in summer. It is an elegant feature plant that prefers a sunny sheltered position in the garden. This plant prefers to grow undisturbed in the garden, but Dierama 'Merlin' can also be planted in containers on the patio provided it is kept moist at all times. It gives dramatic effect to large patio containers both in flower and when its graceful seed heads develop.

