

Libertia Taupo Sunset

BLOOM LEAF:

- Pure white flowers
- Striking autumn colours

SIZE:

- 0.6m H x 0.6m S
- Open clump forming

USE:

- Garden border/Rockery
- Patio containers

Name: Libertia

Full Name: Libertia ixioides 'Taupo Sunset' PBR

Flower: Profusion of pure white star like flowers in spring

Leaf: Green to yellow orange to strong orange leaves with burnt red highlights in winter

Mature Size: 0.6m H x 0.6m S/Open clump forming

Preferred Location: Garden border/Patio container/Rockery

Likes: Full sun to semi shade and moist fertile garden soil

Dislikes: Temperatures below -8°C

Grown in: Ireland

Libertia Taupo Sunset is a stunning plant with narrow sword shaped leaves that present a riot of colour as temperatures change during the seasons. From green to yellow orange to strong orange with burnt red highlights in the depths of winter this plant is sure to add interest to your garden. The pure white stars like flowers in spring followed by attractive orange/red berries in autumn ensure all year round interest.

