

Nandina Obsessed

LEAF:

- Deep red young leaves
- Deep green mature leaves

SIZE:

- 0.7m H x 0.6m S
- Compact, upright growth

USE:

- Garden border
- Patio container

Name: Heavenly Bamboo

Full Name: Nandina domestica Obsessed 'Seika' PBR

Flower: Conical inflorescences with white flowers, no berries

Leaf: Deep red and long lasting young foliage turning deep green on mature plants

Mature Size: 0.7mH x 0.6mS/compact, upright growth

Preferred Location: Garden border/Patio container

Likes: Full sun or partial shade/Rich, well drained soils

Dislikes: Water logged soil and temperatures below -20°C

Grown in: Ireland

Nandina domestica Obsessed is a mutation of Nandina 'Gulf Stream' with a more intensive foliage colour on the new growths. Its deep red new leaves are retained during the active growing period and the mature leaves show a deep green colour. Nandina Obsessed is a slow growing, compact and evergreen shrub attractive throughout the year with its colourful foliage, flowers and autumn/winter coloration. It is ideal for confined garden spaces and patio containers.

